

In Kindergarten, this week we hope to

Personal, Social and Emotional Development

Children will use the story Goodnight Moon to discuss who they say goodnight to.

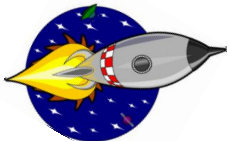

Communication and Language

Talk about what they already know about 'Space' and what they would like to learn about.

Physical Development

Children will develop both fine and gross motor skills through space activities.

Literacy

Children will have individual space passports to write or mark make the planets they have visited.

Mathematics

Children will make star counting books.

Understanding of the World

Children will investigate the NASA for children website.

Expressive arts and design

Children will design and make junk model spacecraft or aliens.
